

The State of Vallejo, CA

Vallejo's unemployment rate is higher than the state of California and the national average.

Vallejo's estimated median household income is lower than the rest of California.

Vallejo drivers often pay more for car insurance (Vallejo Times-Herald 4/2014). Drivers in Vallejo often pay more for car insurance than other cities in Solano County due to the proximity to the San Francisco Bay Area and highly concentrated minority populations.

Mission

New Dawn Vallejo Corporation (NDVC) is a community development corporation and was established in 2010, as a charitable tax exempt 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization in California.

New Dawn Vallejo Corporation's (NDVC) mission is to promote revitalization and redevelopment in Vallejo and Solano County and to empower its citizens by stimulating economic, residential, commercial and educational resurgence.

The vision of NDVC is Healthy Communities.

What We Believe

NDVC began with a vision of becoming a catalyst of true transformation in the city of Vallejo, and throughout Solano County, and works to make this vision a reality.

Since its inception NDVC has worked to serve thousands of youth, adults and families in and around the Vallejo area through its educational programming and community engagement.

We believe that all community members should have access to programs and resources that will help them to succeed.

Goals

To offer "dFree" Economic Literacy Program to residents of Vallejo will receive debt counseling at no cost or nominal fee. Workshops, seminars, and an internet accessible video series will be available that will include methods to become debt free and stress the importance of financial freedom.

To improve the high school graduation rates provide an "at risk" enrichment, tutoring, parental engagement, and amiable after school sports.

To provide access to social, educational and economic programming.

To partner with the Work Force Development Board to provide work force development and mentoring.

To establish a state of the art economic and technology empowerment programming for youth and disenfranchised families (Computer Center, Individual Development Accounts, Etc.).
